

Legion Sponsors Meet On Town Recreation

Aurora—Invitations have been sent out under the auspices of Aurora Branch 385, Canadian Legion, to representative Aurora organizations and groups to attend a meeting in Trinity Parish hall on May 20, to hear John Tett, director of physical fitness and recreation for Ontario.

For some months the question of a community recreation director for Aurora has been broached at various functions and clubs, but no definite steps have been taken to bring the details to those interested. With many members expressing interest in the plan, the Legion executive and membership have approved bringing all groups together for discussion purposes. The branch is not committed to securing a recreation director but is merely performing a public service in bringing the matter to the attention of the municipality. Vice-president Norman Bretz is in charge of the meeting.

"We are merely bringing Mr. Tett to Aurora, in order that a group in town may be familiar with the pros and cons of the situation. There seems to be considerable interest in the matter of securing a recreation director, but anything that might be done would have to be a community effort. The Legion is only holding the meeting to bring the matter to a head. Our members have not endorsed the plan, but they are interested in having the matter discussed freely. No one attending is under any obligation. Anything that develops from the meeting will be an all-Aurora affair."

York Committee Probes Health Unit For North

Newmarket—Reeve Arthur D. Evans, secretary of a special committee of York county council which has been studying health units, reported to the Newmarket town council that a unit for the 14 municipalities north of Markham would provide more complete service at less cost to Newmarket. Newmarket services cost about $1 a person. Under a health unit, the cost would be 60 cents, he said.

Reeve Evans was reporting on a meeting of the committee, which is chaired by Reeve J. D. Sibbald of Georgina. The meeting was addressed by Dr. R. G. Struthers, of the provincial division of public health. Dr. Struthers described a health unit as "a union of municipalities for the purpose of promoting a more efficient health program carried out by full time, specially qualified personnel."

The text of Reeve Evans' report follows:

"The 14 northern municipalities could form a health unit under the government scheme independent of the county at a cost of $1.20 per capita of which the provincial government would pay 50 or 60 percent, or about nine-tenths of a mill on the tax rate."

"This would mean each council passes a by-law to provide for the entering into of an agreement to establish a health unit for this area, population of 38,000, at an approximate cost of $15,000. The unit's share would be $22,800."

An estimate of cost shows: medical officer of health, $5,500; additional medical services, $2,000; supervisor of nurses, $2,200; staff nurses (eight at $1,800), $14,400; sanitary inspectors, (two), $1,000; clerical staff (three), $3,400; transportation, $6,500; administration, $5,500; emergency, $1,100; total, $45,600.

"All local boards of health, sanitary inspectors, nurses, milk inspectors, would be superseded by the new unit which would have the authority to inspect dairies, water systems, restaurants, and all buildings used or deemed necessary for the health of the public."

"Program would include: communicable disease control; tuberculosis, discovery and follow up cases and contacts; venereal diseases, discovery and follow up cases and contacts; school health supervision; maternal, infant and child hygiene; sanitation, water and food control."

"The meeting considered that it would be best to meet the cost on an equalized assessment as used by the county. Woodbridge agreed to send copies of its resolution to set up such a unit to all the councils in the northern part of the county in order to arouse interest in this suggested health unit."

Cheers For Parcel Plan, Former 'Kit' Cane Writes

Newmarket—A letter written April 15 in Newbury, Berks, England, by Mrs. Geo. E. Hawtin, the former "Kit" Edna Cane of Newmarket, has been received by Mrs. Caroline Edwards and tells just how much the Personal Parcel Plan has meant to people there.

Mrs. Hawtin writes: "Of all the very good things you have done... the 'Food for Britain' campaign, is I feel sure, one of your best ideas. All British people will feel very grateful to you. We do receive certain foods, and everyone gets an equal share of rations, such as they are, but for one person there is not very much to eat."

"I have made out a list of foods that people over here would be grateful for and I feel sure that any of the following foods would be most acceptable: chocolate malted milk, tea, any canned foods (meats, sausage, tomatoes, peas, corn), any fruits or fruit juices, cooked spaghetti, soups, ready-mix, pastry flour, jelly powders, pudding powders, cake powders, rice, tapioca, and any dehydrated foods and dried milk or eggs."

"All of these foods I receive from my own people at home and find they give us a variety for which I am very grateful. I do hope you will succeed in this campaign. It will be such a help to the people of Britain."

"I receive a number of boxes

CAMPAIGN FOR FOOD, CLOTHES TO AID U.K.

Newmarket—H. J. Luck, chairman for the campaign to ship food and clothing to Britain, says that the drive is planned for the first two weeks in May.

"As in the two previous clothing drives which each averaged approximately five tons," Mr. Luck said, "each organization will be contacted and asked to assume their share in this most needed and worthy work by taking charge at the town hall for one day."

"The past two drives were for clothing only and were destined for shipment to Europe," Mr. Luck said. "This drive is a combined effort to send food as well as clothing to the people of Britain who have suffered under the necessary severe rationing and whose already monotonous existence has been further aggravated by the recent floods. This is our first effort to aid Britain and baskets have been placed in all food stores in town and will be marked Food for Britain so that interested housewives may contribute."

"All business houses have been asked to help in making this campaign a real success by saving all their cartons—especially the larger ones."

"If possible," continued Mr. Luck, "all clothing should be mended but don't withhold a contribution on this account as volunteers of the various women's organizations will mend them at the town hall."

"Bring your contribution to the town hall as trucks can not call to pick up donations. However, if this is impossible, contact me or phone Newmarket 114," says Mr. Luck, "and a pick-up will be arranged."

"All organizations in the surrounding countryside are welcome to send in their contributions and shipping will be taken care of for them," continued Mr. Luck.

AURORA COMMITTEE TO ASSIST BRITAIN

Aurora—With Mrs. John Klees as chairman, Aurora Women's Institute, at the request of Mayor Ross Linton, will be in charge of the Ontario British Flood Relief campaign in Aurora. The Institute is meeting today and will lay full plans for the campaign. Various organizations and persons in town will be asked to extend their assistance to the Institute.

The campaign, sponsored by the Ontario government with the Hon. Russell T. Kelly as chairman, will be held from May 1 to May 15 and there will be at least one collection day for Aurora. Clothing is especially needed and spring house cleaning worries over disposing of used clothing can be ended by co-operating with the campaign. Food will also be received but obviously for practical purposes this must be confined to canned goods, packaged goods and items that are non-perishable.

CUSTOMS VOLUME UP, NEWMARKET REGRADED

Newmarket—Max Boag, sub-collector of customs and excise for the Newmarket outpost, reported yesterday that the total of the customs duties and the excise taxes collected at the Newmarket office for the year ending March 31 was more than double that of the previous year, and that from the taxes collected thus far in April, the increase is accelerating rapidly.

"In 1945-46 a total of $344,154.68 was collected, made up of $83,231.46 in customs duties and $260,923.22 in excise taxes. In 1946-47, a total of $688,981.33 was collected, made up of $392,839.69 in customs duties and $296,141.64 in excise taxes. The increase in 1946-47 over 1945-46 was $344,749.65," Mr. Boag said.

"As a result, Ottawa has raised Newmarket from a grade one outpost to a grade two outpost—and if the figures for April so far are any indication of the future, the figures for 1947-48 will be much higher than those for 1946-47."

Early Minutes Tell Story Of Yonge Meeting House

By Ethel Willson Trehwella

In the Meeting House that has witnessed the passing of time for more than a century and a quarter, on Sunday, first day, April 27, the descendants of the early Yonge Street Quakers, with friends, will again meet for worship. The morning Meeting will begin at 11 a.m., daylight saving time, and the afternoon service at 2 p.m.

It may be of interest to many in this community to read a few excerpts from the minutes of the Meetings which tell of the planning and building of the historic edifice, and which also contain the names of many of the founders. These minutes have been copied from an early minute book which is now in the care of David Doan of Yonge Street, though an earlier minute book is also preserved at the Western University, London.

Monthly Meeting, Yonge Street, 16-7-1807, "Reported from Preparative Meeting that Nathaniel Pearson, Amos Armitage and Israel Landy were appointed to obtain, take and receive in their own names as trustees, a Deed of Conveyance from Asa Rogers and Mary, his wife, for two acres of land for the use of the Meeting, which said title now being so obtained, this Meeting appoints Amos Armitage to take charge of and keep the same in his care until called upon by this Meeting."

Monthly Meeting, 13-10-1808, "This Meeting taking into consideration the necessity of building a larger Meeting House at this place, appoints Amos Armitage, Nathaniel Pearson, John Doan, Thomas Linville, Reuben Burr, Murdie McLeod, David Wilkon, Lewis Powell, Stephen Chapman, Theodore Winn, Amos Hughes, Enos Dennis, Joseph Hill, Charles Chapman, Isaac Phillips, Rufus Rogers, Obadiah Griffin and Abraham Webster to unite in the size and plan of a house for that purpose, and produce an estimate of expense thereof, and report to next Meeting."

Name Denne Bosworth As Newmarket Engineer

Newmarket—Notices of motion which had been given at a meeting of the Newmarket town council on April 15 were withdrawn following discussion at the meeting on Monday night. The discussion of the "second main street plan" placed before council by Councillor H. J. Luck, was postponed when the 10.30 deadline adopted by council made it obvious that the discussion would have to be curtailed.

Mr. Luck's notice of motion was that a by-law be passed to expropriate lands and buildings for a 66-ft. roadway running from Park Ave. to D'Arcy St. along the old trolley right-of-way and diagonally from the corner of Church and D'Arcy Sts. south-west to Eagle St.

Mr. Luck said that "this project is something that we don't expect to put through quickly, but it is something that will have to come eventually to relieve the congestion on Main St. It will provide new business sites, which the town needs badly, and the resulting increased assessment will pay for the project in a short time. I believe that it is our duty to preserve that property for that improvement, that the property should be expropriated so that when the time comes the improvement can be put through."

Councillor R. C. Morrison said that he believed the plan to be a good one, except that it would bring the traffic out on the present Main St. right at the post office, already one of the worst traffic bottlenecks. The discussion was curtailed at that point after Mayor Joseph Vale had promised Mr. Luck that the project would be given fuller consideration at a future meeting.

A motion was passed appointing Denne Bosworth as town engineer at a salary of $150 a month, with duties to be defined by by-law and to commence June 1. Councillor G. M. Byers introduced the motion, and said that he felt that the services of a town engineer were long overdue. "Bosworth will graduate in June, and he is interested in the position," Councillor Byers said. "He will be a green man who will have to serve a certain term of apprenticeship, but I feel that even though he is just graduating, he would be very helpful. In addition he is a substantial property-owner in the town, is an ex-serviceman, and is married. He set the figure of $150 himself, but that is much lower than we could hope to get an experienced engineer for."

Councillor Bowser concurred. "There are six or seven different sections of town asking for new sidewalks or for repairs to be made. Bosworth could be a great help on that problem alone," he said.

Mayor Vale also supported the motion. "We couldn't get an engineer for less. He should be invaluable to us, and the whole general setup appeals to me. If he proves unsatisfactory, he can be removed. He will hold office during the pleasure of the council," he said.

The motion to appoint Mr. Bosworth was passed unanimously.

A notice of motion by Councillor Caroline Edwards that a fire hall, police station, magistrate's court, and municipal office be combined under one roof at the present firehall site at the corner of Millard and Main Sts., that sufficient lands be expropriated west of the site to provide adequate grounds, that the present town hall be sold or salvaged, with the proceeds to go toward the new site, and that the present town office building be sold also and the money used to build the proposed new building was withdrawn after considerable discussion.

"The appointment of a town engineer scraps all that," Reeve Arthur D. Evans said. "Until he gets a line on things, the new fire truck can be put down at Fred. Thompson's garage. The idea of the municipal auditorium has not been finished with by any means, and it might incorporate some of these things. The expropriation that such a scheme would involve would present a problem."

"The scarcity of labor and material is in itself a problem," Mr. Byers said.

"Years ago, there was lots of material and labor, but money was high," Mr. Luck said. "Money has never been as low as it is today. There was never a better time to take advantage of foresight to acquire certain things."

"It's my opinion that you should withdraw the resolution for the time being," Mayor Vale said.

"In this proposed building, the police station and firehall are housed together," Mr. Morrison said. "I think that it is high time for the co-ordination of the two departments physically and bodily. It is also necessary that we have a new magistrate's court, and this should be near the police station. It would be for the purpose of good financing that we would sell the town clerk's office and the present town hall. I certainly think that we should try to obtain the land."

"If these buildings were under one roof we would only need one fire and one janitor to take care of it properly," said Mr. Birrell.

"Have you any idea what it would cost?" asked Mayor Vale. "We did not have any definite figures when we voted on the memorial auditorium," Mrs. Edwards said. "We would be putting it off for 20 years if the cost were allowed to be the deciding factor," Mr. Birrell said. Reeve Evans said that he considered a new library to be an item of major importance. "I think that it should be given precedence over some of those other things," he said.

N. L. Mathews, K.C., town solicitor, said that a new magistrate's court was one of the most urgent needs of the town.

"The present firehall will never house the two machines," Councillor Luck said.

"In my opinion the resolution contains too many clauses for us to pass as it is, and I am not in favor of this as the site of a new building," Mr. Bowser said. "In addition, any such building should have living quarters for at least one fireman or policeman. There is also need for three or four small rooms to hold meetings. I think we should wait and get the advice of the town engineer on the whole thing."

"There is no reason to rush this project," Mr. Luck said, "but provision should be made so that the land will be available."

"Why not wait until we have

HEALTH UNIT HAS POSSIBILITIES

Reeve Arthur D. Evans reported to the Newmarket town council last week on the progress of a special committee of the York county council which is studying the possibilities of a health unit for the northern municipalities. Progress of this committee should be followed carefully by those living in the municipalities effected, inasmuch as Reeve Evans' report shows that there are many advantages to be had.

Briefly, a health unit, by creating a larger area of administration, with a consequent larger area of taxation, enables a full-time public health office to be established with technicians, nurses, and trained medical officers of health. Where there is no particular consideration given public health, there would be a definite expense, but in Newmarket, for example, which pays approximately $4,000 a year for public health services, a health unit would be cheaper.

Cost of a health unit including a government grant for those municipalities in York county north of Markham, and with a population of approximately 38,000, would be 60 cents per capita. For Newmarket, this would represent a saving of approximately 40 percent. Yet the rate of 60 cents per capita would enable a $45,600 budget, including the government grant, with which to employ full time a medical officer of health, supervisor of nurses, eight staff nurses, two sanitary inspectors, and a clerical staff of three.

The present system of individual appointment of medical officers by municipalities labors under severe disadvantages. Too often, the payment by the municipality is far short of the services demanded of the doctor. With part-time employment, there is not the continuity health matters should have. There is also, the very real disadvantage of asking a local officer to enforce laws against his neighbors, a duty that can be obnoxious to all concerned.

Municipal medical officers are limited in the scope of their service. For example, the township line is the limit of the Newmarket medical officer's jurisdiction, yet that section north of the town line is accepted as a very real part of Newmarket. Since it does not pay taxes to Newmarket, it can not share in the Newmarket public health program. A health unit would do away with the distinction between Newmarket proper and greater Newmarket.

Newmarket has been fortunate in its public health program. It has had the benefits of a public health nurse for nearly three years. But public health measures, to be effective, must cover as much of the community as possible, and cover it consistently. In the formation of a health unit, the need would be realized.

LARGE DOMESTIC MARKET

Representatives of trading nations are currently meeting in Geneva, the site of the old League of Nations, in an effort to develop a freer world trade. Although the Geneva meeting has not had the publicity of the Moscow conference, it is of parallel importance.

Upon the agreement of the Big Four at Moscow depends much that is essential to a lasting peace. Yet there cannot be a lasting peace, no matter how unanimous the members of the Big Four should be in such matters as boundaries and reparations, unless there is some measure of world prosperity. The Geneva meeting seeks to contribute towards that world prosperity by encouraging world trade.

Canada has a larger stake than most nations in the outcome of the Geneva talks as a top-ranking exporting nation. Because of its outstanding position, it is quite likely that it may be asked to give up some of its present advantages in an effort to more widely distribute trade benefits. On the weekend, for example, there was a report that an end to British preference, under which Canada has become the centre for much "branch plant" development, would be sought.

It seems reasonable to expect that as the price of more widely distributed world trade, itself essential to international harmony, those nations enjoying the major share of world trade will be required to restrict their participation in it for the good of all nations. Canadians will recognize this need to subordinate national interests as the price of international goodwill. At the same time, any restriction of Canadian trade will have a depressing effect on Canadian economy unless measures are taken to offset loss of exporting markets with the development of domestic markets.

As it is, the importance of domestic markets is often lost sight of in the magnitude of our export trade. The 1941 census report revealed that 22 percent of Canadian homes were without radios; 60 percent without phones; 78 percent without vacuum cleaners; 63 percent without cars; 49 percent without refrigerators. Eleven percent had all these conveniences and 17 percent had none of them. Here is a large market for domestic manufacture.

The catch is that while this market exists in terms of needs, it doesn't exist to the same degree in ability to pay for these goods, or didn't at the time of census-taking. Since then, the war has brought higher wages and with them, a larger domestic market. That market can be maintained and developed, however, only as long as money is paid to the consumer in the form of wages to support it. Reduced wages means a reduced market.

At the present time, 35 cents of every dollar income results from Canada's export trade. In view of the demands likely to be made at Geneva, that Canada be deprived of some of its trade advantages, and our dependence on exports, it will be very much to the advantage of Canadian manufacturers to consider the development of domestic markets in a new light.

PUBLIC SCHOOL AREAS WORTH CONSIDERING

The trend towards high school areas, so strongly in evidence in York county, draws attention to its smaller brother, the township public school area. In North York, for example, public school areas might be profitably considered at Mount Albert and Schomberg where continuation schools will be closed with the formation of the two high school areas, one for Newmarket high school and the other for Aurora high school.

The additional space which will result at the Mount Albert and Schomberg school could be utilized for public school areas. Another consideration with reference to the Schomberg continuation school is the Toronto-Barrie highway which cuts through existing school sections in King township, sections which might take advantage of the division to form areas.

In brief, a township school area administers two or more school sections of a township as an unit. The area follows, as much as possible, the natural boundaries of associated communities. It is the same principal as the high school area, consolidating cost, maintenance, administration, and teaching, and providing a more equitable distribution of school costs. That the public school area has proven more efficient than the school section is evident in that of the 397 school areas formed from 2,341 sections, none has sought a return to its former status.

With the formation of high school areas at Aurora and Newmarket, and the construction of the new highway through King township, school section trustees in these areas might well investigate for themselves the advantage of township public school areas as they would apply to their sections. Where others have found township school areas to their advantage, there is likely to benefit in King and East Gwillimbury.

What Others Think LIQUOR ADS AND PROFITS

(Stouffville Tribune)

Effective April 1, the dominion government lifted restrictions on liquor advertising throughout Canada. This means that it is now legal to advertise liquor in newspapers and magazines, on billboards and over the air, subject, however, to any restrictions that may be in effect or that may be placed upon such advertising by the various provinces. In other words, the dominion government has lifted the federal control but the provinces still have the right individually to ban liquor advertising or restrict it as they see fit.

Actually Ontario had placed a ban on liquor advertising before the federal government's wartime measure was inaugurated. Therefore, the Ontario restriction still stands and liquor advertising is still banned in this province.

No doubt efforts will be made to have this ban lifted. With what success remains to be seen. Quebec and a number of western provinces previously permitted liquor advertising and we presume these laws will again be in force now that the federal control has been lifted. In most of these provinces, we believe, the text of such advertising is subject to the approval of the provincial liquor control authorities.

In discussing liquor advertising, one must make a distinction between what is generally known as "institutional" or "goodwill" advertising, and "product" advertising, which is the direct advertising of intoxicating beverages of all kinds. The institutional advertising was used widely during the war to promote Victory Loans and for other patriotic purposes and no doubt the brewers and distillers felt they received some benefit from it by having their name attached to such advertising. Many other business firms followed the same process and without question this supporting advertising was of great value in promoting the sale of Victory Bonds and for other patriotic purposes. Since the war brewers and distillers have continued this type of advertising with various applications and we heard recently that they propose to make some available for the support of local charities.

While most newspapers accept the sponsored goodwill advertising, some refuse it. Many of those accepting it would refuse the direct product advertising if offered and The Oshawa Times-Gazette is among this number. In fact, this newspaper is quite in favor of continuing the ban upon the publication of liquor advertising of any kind in Ontario and has placed itself on record in this connection on a number of occasions.

While on the subject of liquor advertising we were interested in a statement made by Mrs. T. H. Greenaway of Hamilton, provincial president of the W.C.T.U., at a recent meeting of the Oshawa branch of that fine organization. Mrs. Greenaway held up a copy of Collier's magazine which she said contained $13,400 of liquor advertisements. As this seemed to us a rather tall statement, we bought a current copy of Collier's and found it contained 12 pages of beverage advertising (whiskey, gin, ale, wine, etc.). Ten pages are printed in four colors, the cost of which is $10,000 per page. The other two pages are in two colors with the exception of one half-page which is in black only. The rate for this advertising would be slightly less. It would seem therefore, that Mrs. Greenaway's statement might be entirely correct with respect to the issue which she is using as an exhibit. Collier's magazine, by the way, has a net paid circulation of 2,869,000. We quite agree with Mrs. Greenaway's recommendation that in the selection of magazines for home reading preference be given to those which do not depend so largely upon the distillers and brewers for their support.

At the same time, it is only fair to point out that it is pretty hard to disassociate ourselves completely from the operations of industry which has such widespread ramifications. A return tabled in the Ontario legislature a few days ago showed total sales of beer, wine and spirits, for the fiscal year ending March 31, $135,778,068. The net trading profit for the year amounted to $21,600,871 and the province also received $8,923,559 in fines, permit fees and taxes on brewers and wine manufacturers and the products. Thus the citizens of Ontario are compelled to share in the manufacture and sale of intoxicating beverages whether they approve of same or not. They are involuntary partners in the whole enterprise.

TO THE EDITOR

The editor: My attention has been drawn to your three editorials on the subject of the address I gave in Newmarket on March 10, "Democracy Needs Organization." In view of the importance you evidently attach to the subject, I trust you will publish this letter replying to the editorials.

Though your reporter did a first class job of covering the meeting, it is somewhat unfortunate that he did not include a few more of the economic facts and figures which I have. Had they been printed, I believe my contentions would have been substantiated and certain misunderstandings apparent in your editorials avoided.

However, I'm pleased to note that one of the keynotes of my talk was reported: "Democracy springs from the people, it depends on the participation of the people, but people have no voice and no effective part in democracy unless they are organized and have, through their collective economic and political organizations, received training, education and partnership in democratic processes and institutions."

Your disagreement with my views on democracy, expressed in your first editorial, gave me something of a shock, since Canadian editors, with few exceptions, urge people to vote in municipal, provincial and federal elections and as a rule subsequently have reason to deplore the fact that a majority of electors failed to exercise their franchise and thus participate in our democratic form of government. It was a shock because fundamentally I was urging the same thing.

Limit Democracy

However, your first editorial at least seems to indicate that you limit democracy to a system of voting and elections. You mention "the choice of a candidate." I was expressing a conviction that choosing a candidate and casting a ballot are only a small segment of democracy, that genuine democracy must embrace our conduct of our social and economic life and that, to have industrial, social and political democracy, we need training in democratic processes and institutions.

You suggest that I "might argue that the loss of individual choice in the interests of the common good is worthwhile." If you read again the report in your paper, you will find that I was advocating just the opposite. Here are three quotations from the report: "We must organize, not from the top down, but from the bottom, from the man in the street towards the top." "Democracy springs from the people." "It depends upon the participation of the people."

We are in agreement on two statements in your first editorial. You say: "We cannot imagine a more pernicious system than that in which the choice of a candidate is made by a bargaining agency on behalf of the individual." I agree, and I stated plainly that such a system is dictatorship. You say: "There are abuses of the democratic system of which we are all aware." I, too, was trying to show that there are certain serious weaknesses in our present so-called democracy and that practical steps are necessary to insure the development and fulfillment of democracy in our nation and throughout the world.

New Target

Having missed the target in your first editorial, you hoist a new one in the second. I should like to challenge you to find one sentence or phrase in my speech which justifies your opening sentence.

You say: "There is an increasing tendency to justify non-democratic practices in the correction of the abuses of democratic privileges." Then, by lifting five words out of their context, you seek to imply that I am advocating non-democratic and unlawful action.

In your first editorial you paid me the compliment of saying I was an "influential person." No doubt you reason that a person who exerts influence should also be a responsible person. With this view I agree and respectfully suggest that editors are also influential people and they, too, should be responsible people.

Since you were unable to find support in what I said at the meeting for your imputation that I was advocating undemocratic and lawless action to "stem the tide of monopoly capitalism toward economic dictatorship and political fascism," you proceed to use the steel strike of last year to buttress your argument.

Earlier Editorial

You state: "The recent strike of that union was conducted in complete defiance of the law." That statement, Mr. Editor, in addition to being false, is strangely in conflict with the leading editorial which appeared in The Newmarket Era and Express on Thursday, Sept. 12, 1946.

May I remind you that, by an Order-in-Council under the War Measures Act and by an Act of the Legislature of the Province of Ontario, the United Steelworkers of America was the lawfully certified bargaining agency for the employees of the Steel Company of Canada in Hamilton and that, under these laws, the company was required to bargain in good faith with our union. May I also remind you that, although the strike involved more than 13,000 steelworkers and lasted 81 days, not a single, solitary serious injury or damage was inflicted on any person or property. Finally I remind you that the Parliament of Canada established a tribunal before which union and company representatives appeared. In view of the record of the Steelworkers and your own editorial, your contention that I am seeking to use and justify non-democratic and lawless methods to achieve democracy is disproved and destroyed.

Again in your second editorial I find one statement in which I can fully concur. I regret, however, that even it is so worded as to make it appear that I advocate something else. You assert: "It is time that Mr. Millard and others of his thinking realized that there can be no substitute for the authority of the people."

It was this very fact that I was stressing in my Newmarket address. I emphasized it because I have learned from democratic experience in union and co-operative organizations that the "authority of the people" cannot be expressed in a modern, collective society without the economic and political organization of the people.

"Organization"

In your third editorial, as in the second, you seek to put a meaning on the word, "organization", which is totally at variance with what I said on March 10. I am pleased to note, however, since you say, "Mr. Millard evidently believes that democracy can be achieved," that you realize that what we have now is not complete democracy. Why do you go on—"Mr. Millard evidently believes that democracy can be achieved through undemocratic methods, for that is what his touchstone of organization means?" Since when have farmers' federations, co-operatives and trade unions been considered "undemocratic methods" in our professedly democratic countries?

I'm sure you will agree with me that Great Britain is one of the finest, if not the finest, example of a democratic country in the world today. Surely you do not suggest that the pioneering and development of the trade union and co-operative movements in Great Britain have been along "undemocratic" lines. I believe most students and observers will agree that trade unions—yes, "union shop" trade unions—and co-operatives form the basis of British democracy. They are similarly necessary if democracy is to prevail elsewhere.

It is this type of organization which has succeeded in Britain, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Australia and New Zealand. It was this same democratic organization which I advocated at Newmarket. I am fully convinced that an organized, informed, self-disciplined people provides the only alternative to dictatorship.

In conclusion I wish again to thank The Newmarket Era and Express for the excellent report of the meeting and the generous space given to this discussion. I am indeed happy to find that, no matter how widely we may have differed on the question of organization, we are in complete agreement in your final paragraph in the third editorial. You conclude: "The only way to achieve complete democracy is through an "enlightened population," industrial workers, farmers and consumers need to be organized into their economic and political associations, just as editors, ministers, doctors, lawyers, engineers, bankers, publishers and manufacturers are organized in their professional and trade associations and political parties.

Yours sincerely,
C. H. Millard.

Editor's note: Excerpts from editorial of September 12, 1946, on Hamilton steel strike: "The union . . . was blockading the plant in defiance to that section of the Criminal Code which says no picket line may prevent the entry or exit of non-striking workers from a strike-bound plant." "This lawlessness (on the part of both labor and management) must not, can not be allowed to continue."

In the editorials, we referred to the Winnipeg address of Mr. Millard. We were in error. The remarks attributed to Mr. Millard were made by Mr. A. R. Mosher.

ERA AND EXPRESS CLASSIFIEDS BRING RESULTS

THIS WANT AD CAN BE DUPLICATED 9334 TIMES IN CANADA

As of April 1st, National Employment Service figures showed approximately 9,334 veterans in the older age group in Canada, registered for employment but unemployed. Of these, 2,493 saw service in both World War I and World War II. Another 6,841 fought in the 1914-1918 War only, but during World War II, they made their contribution to victory in Canada's war industries. Today, they are looking for employment. Many offer employers a good background of skills—all are men with a high degree of responsibility and integrity.

IT'S A MATTER OF DOLLARS AND CENTS

In Canada's total population, according to the last Dominion census, only 18% are males in the age group between 20 and 45. If production, on which Canada's prosperity is based, is to be maintained, this country cannot afford to discard a large proportion of those in the age brackets outside this group. Canada's older veterans who have served this country well are anxious to continue to serve it. They do not want to be retired from the labour market on War Veterans' or other state allowances. It is good business for employers to use the productive capacity of this older age group.

HERE ARE THE FACTS

Pension Plans—Under the normal pension plan, the employer's contribution for an employee starting at age 40, averages 7.5%. For one starting at age 25, the employer's contribution is 5%. The additional cost of hiring a proportion in the older bracket, therefore is not great.

Group Insurance—The difference in premiums between an employee 25 years of age and one 40 years, is $1.58 per thousand per year.

Productive Capacity—Surveys made in the automobile, textile and steel industries show the most productive years are those between 45 and 51.

Liability to Accidents—Surveys by compensation and other agencies prove the accident rate among the older group is much less. Highest accident rate is found in the group of 20 to 24 years.

CANADA'S TEXTILE INDUSTRY is not generally regarded as being anything very exciting. It is true that in normal peace-time years textiles led all other industries in employment and wages paid. But that means we are just a part of regular daily living in Canada. It makes us about as exciting as a kitchen table.

DURING THE WAR, Canada's hundreds of textile plants turned out millions of yards of urgently-needed supplies. Today we are working hard to catch up with the heavy and growing civilian demands of the post-war. We provide thousands of jobs to Canadian citizens at new high wage levels. True, these factors do not seem exciting but it is nice to know that we have a place in Canada's way of living. A kitchen table may not be exciting but it is important to the household.

THE PHYSICIAN and THE PHARMACIST

WORKING TOGETHER
SAFEGUARD YOUR HEALTH

The physician, the pharmacist and the nurse are each concerned, though in a different way, with the use of drugs. Their inter-relationship can be summarized in this way: The physician prescribes, the pharmacist presents, the nurse administers. The physician examines the patient and diagnoses the disease. If a drug is indicated, he prescribes a suitable remedy and directs how it shall be taken and in what quantity. The pharmacist then prepares and presents the remedy in suitable form. The patient may be able to administer the drug himself but when administration requires special knowledge and techniques, the skill of a trained nurse is required.

These three people represent three important links in the human chain that brings our modern medication to wage war against disease and bring health and happiness to the patient.

Should your doctor prescribe, we invite you to confidently bring your prescription to us.

A party of University of Toronto students have been excavating the site of an Indian village at the corner of the Vandorf sideroad and the sixth concession of Whittechurch. The village is believed to be at least 500 years old. Above left, Helen Dodd compares a gaming disc, found during the digging, with a Canadian quarter. About 3,000 pieces of pottery, some arrowheads, deer teeth and bones and two fragments of human rib bones have been unearthed. Doreen Shaw, right, holds a piece of human rib alongside a museum Indian skeleton. Digging is concentrated around what is believed to be a trash pile of the village and around the palisades which protected the village. The excavation is being carried out under sponsorship of the Royal Ontario Museum and is directed by J. N. Emerson, lecturer in anthropology at the University of Toronto. The digging is being done on a farm owned by J. W. Canning, Toronto.

Feeding Dairy Cattle

While good pasture is essential to herd health and abundant milk flow, it is not everything, experts say. They advise a properly balanced feed in summer for extra milk at the time—and later, to maintain cows at the peak of condition.

The Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, gets out a common sense pamphlet on this subject, which you can obtain without charge. Ask for WPS Pamphlet No. 80: Feeding Dairy Cattle. Make use, also, of the special knowledge of experts at your Agricultural College or Experimental Farm—which is yours for the asking.

AN ODD MANIA, BUT...

Breaking windows is an odd and expensive mania that most sane people manage to control. Breaking insulators on Hydro poles, or shattering street lights, is an even more costly pastime that an astonishing number of boys and men fail to curb.

An insulator or street light sits up so invitingly... and, to the uninformed seems such a small and insignificant piece of equipment that it presents a tempting target. Few people would break insulators or street lights if they understood the damage that can result.

A broken insulator can cause a short circuit and cut the service on a line. The homes, the factory, the hospital or the stores depending on that line are cut off from power until the insulator can be replaced. Housewives are inconvenienced. Factories can be stopped with possible pay losses to the workers. Human lives can be endangered, especially in a hospital.

Broken street lights imperil both foot and vehicle traffic, and create an invitation to crime.

To repair damaged insulators and replace broken street lights requires men, trucks and possibly miles of travel. It all adds up to a big price for a target... and Hydro consumers pay that price.

Please use your influence at every opportunity to prevent the deliberate or careless destruction of public property.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT JUDGMENT RESERVED IN SHOOTING CHARGE

Newmarket—Judgment against Timothy Berek was reserved for one week in magistrate's court here on Friday morning. Berek was charged with having in his charge or control something which in the absence of precaution or care might endanger human life, to wit, a loaded double-barrelled shotgun, by an unlawful act or by doing negligently or omitting to do an act which was his duty to do in regard to the discharge, firing or handling of the said shotgun, caused grievous bodily harm to John Reid. Magistrate J. E. Pritchard, K.C., presided.

Dr. M. K. Dillane, Schomberg, testified that on January 12 he had attended John Reid for a gunshot wound in the abdomen. "It was a very serious wound," he said. "The boy later died. There were no other injuries except to the leg."

Patricia Reid, John's older sister, said that she had been present when the boy was injured. "I was walking on the tenth concession of King with John and my sister, Joanne, when we met Berek and Walter Sapusak," she said. "Berek had the shotgun with him. We turned around to walk home with them. John was pulling the toboggan, and the five of us were walking in a straight line across the road."

"Then my brother dropped the rope of the toboggan and walked out in front of Stanley (Berek). He turned around and was walking backward, facing us. My sister went back after the toboggan, and Stanley was watching her. John was about seven feet in front of Stanley when the gun went off. There had been no previous conversation about the gun, but Berek had been walking along swinging it."

When Holding Gun

Crown Attorney Arleigh Armstrong asked Miss Reid whether Berek had been holding the gun in front of or behind the hammer.

Magistrate Pritchard ordered a five-minute recess to allow witnesses to regain their composure when she broke into tears at sight of the gun. When court reopened a request for a remand was heard before Miss Reid was recalled to the stand.

"After the accident we took John to the nearest farm," Miss Reid continued. "The two boys did everything that they could to help." Mr. Armstrong asked her again in what position Berek's hand had been when the accident occurred, and she replied that it had been in front of the hammers. "The rifle had been pointed down when we first met the boys, but Berek had been carrying it level for some time," she continued. "Berek was walking when the gun went off. I don't remember what was said at the time. After the shot Berek carried the gun to the house."

Positive identification to make any "I saw it" statement of the gun, she said, and that was enough.

In reply to defense Joseph Roebuck's question, Miss Reid said that the boys, Miss Sapusak, had been walking with the gun when the gun went off.

Present At Shooting

Walter Sapusak testified that he had been with Berek for about three hours before the shooting occurred. "Berek's gun had been fired four or five times during the afternoon before we met the Reids," he said. "But we still had some ammunition. I was present when the gun went off."

He said that Berek had been carrying the gun with his hand about six inches in front of the trigger, and the gun level. "The gun had at one time been tilted down, but when we met the Reids, it was level. I don't know whether the gun was cocked or not." He said that John Reid had been about three or four feet in front of Berek when the gun went off. He said that he did not know which barrel had gone off.

"Berek stayed with the boy after the shooting," he continued. "I ran for a doctor. I was not there when they carried Johnny to the house. The gun had not gone off accidentally all afternoon previously, although it had been fired several times."

Inspector William Henry King, registrar of firearms for the Ontario Provincial Police, said that he had been officially associated with the study of firearms, and their action for 35 years.

"On March 28, Constable Aubrey Fleury brought a Janssen double-barrelled, 12-gauge shotgun to me," he said. He identified it as the one produced in court. "It is an old, very cheap, Belgian gun," he continued. "The locks on it are terrible and it is a very dangerous weapon to handle. The locks won't stay closed, and the hammers are very bad. The slightest jar will make the gun go off."

Cocking the gun, the inspector tapped it lightly against the floor, tripping one of the hammers. "If you fire one barrel or if one goes off accidentally, the jar will almost certainly make the other one go off too," he said. "A properly equipped gun couldn't be discharged that way. If the gun were cocked it would be discharged by a very small bang against the leg."

"I would say that it would have to be cocked to go off," he continued. "It would be impossible for the gun to go off accidentally if it were not cocked."

He explained that if the hammers were not cocked, the gun could not be fired from the energy of walking. "For this accident to have happened the way it did, the gun must have been cocked," he said.

Constable Aubrey Fleury testified that he had taken possession of the gun the day after the shooting, at the home of the accused.

"He said that this was the gun that had been used," Constable Fleury said, "and that it had been left at his home along with another gun about a year and a half before, by the previous tenants. The gun has been in my possession since. There was no ammunition in it when I got it." He said that he had no information as to which barrel had been fired. "The gun had not been cleaned for a long time," he said.

Berek, 18, said that he worked on the farm with his father, and that he had never been in any trouble before. "I went hunting on a neighbor's farm right after dinner, and fired the gun three or four times without any trouble," he continued. "I started home across the fields at about 4.30, and I loaded my gun when I smelled a skunk. I was carrying the gun in my right hand about six inches in front of the hammers. The gun never went off accidentally before. I met the Reids about ten minutes later and we started home."

Berek said that he had no explanation as to how the gun got off. "It was not cocked when I finished hunting and I did not notice any change," he said. "The boy was in front of me when the gun fired. I don't know whether it would have been possible for him to have touched the gun at some time or not. He said that the ammunition that he had been using had been new. The last time that I really looked at the gun was when I was in the field," he said.

Arthur Spooner testified that the overalls that the accused had been wearing had a small hole on the right side just below the thigh.

Mr. Roebuck said that there was no evidence of any overt act of negligence or of criminal intent. "The onus is on the Crown to produce such evidence if there is to be a conviction on a charge such as this," he said.

"I am going to take this case to the jury," Magistrate Pritchard said. "Judgment is today." "I'll one week from to-day."

Stanley pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawfully obtaining a charge of unlawful value of $12 by frauds to the from Hillsdale Dairy, pretenses of a worthless cheque.

Fred. Hall testified that he had given him a cheque for $12 in payment for a snipe purchase, with the change being given to him in cash. "The cheque was later returned to me by the bank," Mr. Hall said. "Flicker has not made restitution."

Flicker said that he was now working in Aurora and offered restitution. "I have never been in trouble before," he said. He was placed on suspended sentence for six months, required to make restitution and to pay the

Young Hopefuls

By DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN

Betty-Jo Becomes A Clam Betty-Jo, a typical teen-ager, has become very independent of late. Until recently, she and her mother were the best of pals.

They had some of their happiest times going places together.
 They had delightful discussions about everything and everyone.

They had mutual ambitions and were making wonderful plans for the future. In fact, Betty-Jo and her mother were as close as a pair of very devoted sisters.

Then suddenly, their close relationship became strained.
 Mother hasn't figured out the reason for Betty-Jo's changed attitude—her recent aversion to exchanging confidences.

Betty-Jo used to come home from dates eager to tell all to her mother.
 She kept her mother awake till the wee hours sometimes, reviewing the events of the evening. Mother was never too tired to listen and really delighted in sharing her daughter's "post mortems".

During the past week, Betty-Jo has gone to bed without reporting the day's activities.
 When mother has suggested something special, instead of enthusiasm, Betty-Jo has seemed unconcerned. Mother can't depend on Betty-Jo going any places with her anymore, either. Her answers regarding future engagements are evasive. Moreover, it is perfectly plain that Betty-Jo will do what she wants to do when the time comes. She is in that stage of adolescence that craves independence and lives very selfishly in the present.

Was Ribbed By Gang Temporary silent behavior of this type isn't unusual. In one instance, a teen-ager felt practically forced to act independent of his parents because he had received a ribbing from the gang to the effect that "he had to tell his parents everything". This lad had enjoyed talking things over at home previous to that time. Nevertheless, he closed like a clam for about a month in order to retain his self-respect.
 Then he began confiding in his parents again. He squared things with himself by admitting,
 "I don't have to tell you the things I do; I just want to—that's all."

Whether the behavior is temporary or of a permanent nature depends on great deal on the manner in which the parents handle the situation. Ordinarily, ignoring the silent youth's silence is a fairly reliable rule.
 Quizzing and nagging for information certainly are not in order.
 Sometimes, one parent is favored with honest confessions from the child while the other parent is left out of secrets. If father tells mother what has been told him in confidence, he is betraying the child's faith. If this is discovered by the child, the child usually takes refuge in silent behavior.

The child becomes secretive when he feels misunderstood.
 He feels justified in doing the things he does and resents parental objections and ridicule.
 Parents should suppress their first impulses to rage or to laugh at some of the tales their children tell them. Parents should lend a sympathetic ear for the purpose of better understanding the motives that prompt those youthful actions.

It is hoped that Betty-Jo's silence will be only temporary. In the meantime, mother must try to content herself with friends' and neighbors' volunteered reports concerning her child's activities.

Betty-Jo's mother does have a deep appreciation and fine understanding of youthful behavior.
 She will suppress her own personal interests and anxieties and simply continue to wait patiently for Betty-Jo to return to her with her confidences.

On Friday, April 11, the death occurred at her home in Aurora of Mrs. W. Belfry, the former Anne Noller, daughter of the late James and Elizabeth Noller, Eagle St., Newmarket, in her 70th year. Mrs. Belfry is the last of her family except George, Detroit, who was unable to attend the funeral.

Newmarket citizens will recall the other members of her family, Bob, Henry, George, Eva, and Frank. Frank died at the age of 21; Eva died only a year ago; while Henry died about ten years ago. Main St. will recall Henry being in business then for some years, and the Office Specialty will recall Bob, who died nearly 20 years ago. The father was employed by Arnott and Fox, who ran a cooper shop where the waterworks now stands.

Mrs. Belfry belonged to the Methodist church, now Trinity United, where she was a member of Mrs. Ed. Cane's Bible class, and was also secretary of the Royal Templars of Temperance for many years. After her marriage to Mr. Belfry they lived on a farm at Armitage, Yonge St., later moving to Aurora to their present home, where they have resided over 20 years.

While at Armitage, Mrs. Belfry was convenor of the Armitage Social Community club and sponsored many oratorical contests. For nine years Mrs. Belfry has been a semi-invalid and in her last illness was unconscious for three weeks. Her funeral was conducted from the chapel of Roadhouse and Rose on Monday, April 14, to Newmarket cemetery.

Besides her husband, she leaves two daughters, Mrs. W. F. Brown and Mrs. A. Goldsmith, both of Toronto, and six grandchildren. Among those present from out of town were Rev. Chas. A. Belfry, Oshawa, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jackson, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Belfry, Toronto, Mrs. Henry Noller, Toronto, Beryl and Frank Benham, son and daughter of Mrs. Belfry's sister Eva, and Mrs. Mary Sinclair and son, Harold, Toronto. Mrs. Sinclair is 88 years old.

Interment was at Newmarket cemetery where Mrs. Belfry's parents are buried. The pallbearers were Mr. Geo. Luesby, Mr. Tom Doyle, Mr. James Gibson, Newmarket, Mr. John O'ford, Mr. Will Robinson and Mr. Cecil Long, Aurora.

MENTIONED ON RADIO

Mrs. Robert Graves, Millard St., who has been spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Howard Pegg, Sharon, celebrated her 89th birthday at her daughter's home on April 18. Her birthday was mentioned on the Kate Aiken program on Friday morning.

NEWMARKET RAISES
WATER SERVICE RATE

Newmarket—At a meeting of the Newmarket town council on Monday night, a motion was passed authorizing the increase water from $10 to $20 where in the installation price for half-inch pipe was used, and from $20 to $30 where inch pipe was used. In addition, there will be extra charge for any amount of pipe necessary over the standard 33 feet.

An additional suggestion was made that public institutions be charged for the water that they used. "There is no reason why the public schools should not pay 50 cents a year for every pupil, the same as the high school does, and the situation is similar in the case of other institutions. Poor business methods have been used in the past, and these have to be overcome," Councilor H. J. Luck, chairman of the water committee, said.

A by-law was passed authorizing the purchase of a fire engine, truck, and apparatus and appliances for fire fighting and fire protection for the town of Newmarket, at an estimated cost of $7,500, to be paid for by debentures.

A by-law was introduced to authorize the expenditure by the school board of $6,883 for a new heating system for Alexander Muir school.

Now's the time to change the oil in your car to one that will give you extra protection.

Oil failure—the actual breakdown of its protective power under the beating of sustained speed—is a comparatively new disease. # Stouffville Fire Brigade To Serve East Whitchurch

Whitchurch township council in session April 12 passed a resolution indicating its approval of a fire area on the east side of the township in conjunction with the village of Stouffville similar to the agreement in existence on the west side with Aurora.

An offer from Stouffville to enter such an arrangement in which it stated that the municipality would provide a new fire engine and suction hose to draw from well or stream, and carrying 250 gallons of surplus water and 1,000 feet of hose, mounted on a Fargo chassis, capable of a speed of 65 miles per hour, was read.

The village will agree to service the east side to meet in with the Aurora fire area.

The cost to the township will be an annual charge of $250 plus $40 per fire, and $10 per hour over one hour. The services of the fire brigade, upkeep, insurance and all other charges will be borne by the village.

Deputy reeve Logan and councillor Ivan McLaughlin moved the resolution agreeing to the arrangement, which will come into operation when the new engine is placed in service sometime in June.

The whole township will have a fairly good fire service, comparable with any rural municipality similarly situated and much better than the average.

The auditor's report for 1946 was read and accepted. "I think it is a very complete report and

WHITCHURCH SCHOOL COSTS JUMP $10,000

Mounting public school salaries for teachers and other increased costs will bring about a sharp increase in taxes for Whitchurch township, John Crawford, treasurer, revealed on April 12 when he presented his annual budget to the council. "I estimate that school costs will advance four mills, which with a one-mill increase in the general tax rate this year means a five-mill over-all jump," said Mr. Crawford.

Reeve Lorne Evans said that he favored showing the school taxes distinctly separate on the tax bills this year. He emphasized that this was a big advance yet council had not a word to say about the expenditures, nor had they any control on the sections.

Last year the township spent $19,000 on education and this year the cost will be $29,500. Despite the assistance by the Ontario government and plus the steady increase in assessment by reason of new properties in the municipality, Whitchurch now has an assessment exceeding two and a half millions.

ANCIENT GOOSE NOW PRESUMED DEPARTED

A goose which is reputed to be the oldest in the county of York is now presumed dead, according to the Stouffville Tribune.

Despite her age of 26 years, she was not able to combine beauty with brains. She went out in the worst storm of the winter on Tuesday, March 25, into the stream near the barn of the owner, David Pugh, sixth concession, Whitchurch. This was the last time she has been seen alive.

Mr. Pugh suggests that the goose might have been drawn in to the swirling stream, and carried under the ice of the stream, which passes through farms and a sawmill. No one as yet has reported the finding of a live or dead goose.

As the goose was laying on the day of the disappearance Mr. Pugh did not associate its absence to anything other than being on the nest.

The old goose first saw the light of day in Uxbridge township, before the Pugh's located in Whitchurch. It is wondered just how long a goose may live, that has escaped the Christmas larder over a quarter of a century.

ARTIFICIAL BREEDING MOOTED FOR JERSEYS

A meeting of 40 Jersey cattle owners of York county and a delegation from Halton county met in the municipal hall at Richmond Hill on Tuesday to discuss the possibility of taking up artificial insemination through membership in the Maple Cattle Breeders' Association. President H. H. Barber outlined the interest and demand which prompted the calling of the meeting.

The artificial insemination work and recent legislation passed by the legislature for its control was explained by W. P. Watson, assistant director of the Ontario live stock branch, Toronto. Mr. Watson has made a personal study of this work in various provinces of Canada, the United States, Great Britain, Denmark and Sweden and has given invaluable assistance to the unit at Maple.

President G. W. Koffer of the Maple unit reviewed the history and other details of that organization which has had such remarkable growth and success since it commenced operation less than two years ago. Following a few remarks by the chief technician, Dr. C. R. Reeds, it was suggested by the agricultural representative, W. M. Cockburn, who is secretary of the Jersey club, that a gallop poll be made of those present.

Around Town

About the men and women you meet around town almost everyday.

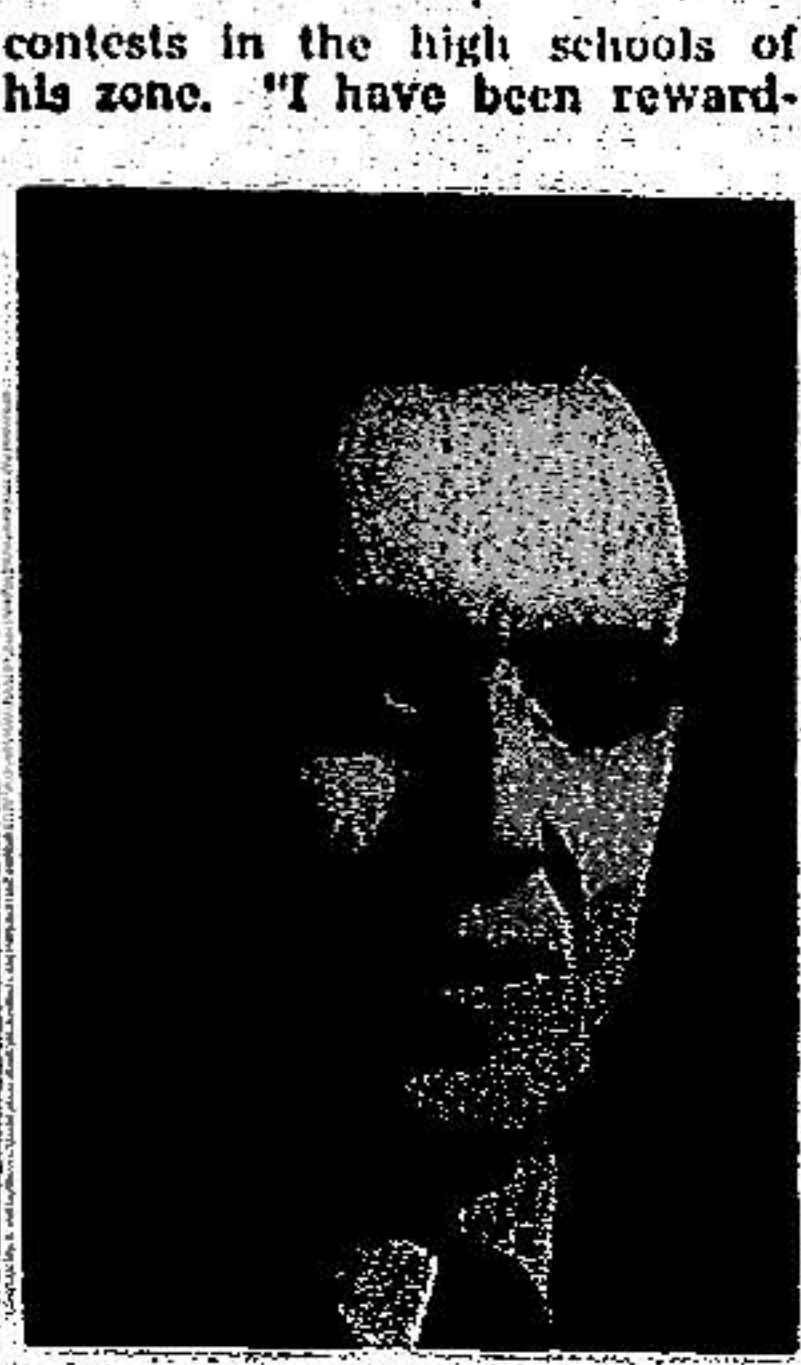

Division court clerk for the past ten years, succeeding the late K. N. Robertson, president of the Newmarket Lions club in 1943 and 1944 and this year deputy district governor, organizer of the 277 Air Cadet Squadron, chairman of the local hydro board since its inception two years ago and a firm believer in such things as oratorical contests as a means to develop the quality of leadership in youth, Fred Stewart "Freddie" Thompson has devoted the major portion of his "spare" time to social service and to boys' work.

Freddie was born in Newmarket "just before the turn of the century" (he declined the invitation to elaborate), the son of a builder and saw mill operator. Following the completion of his studies at Alexander Muir public school and Newmarket high school, he "did a little war work while the war was on" and then went to work in the garage of the late Charlie Thompson (no relation). He worked for Mr. Thompson continuously until 1931 when he went into business for himself.

Back in 1915, Fred started playing hockey for Newmarket and he continued to play until about 1926. He managed hockey teams from 1921 to 1930. "We reached the O.H.A. finals two years in succession, in 1926-27 and 1927-28 when I was manager," he says. "Both teams were entirely composed of homebrew players." Freddie was also active in baseball and lacrosse ("lacrosse was a great game").

Fred joined the Lions club in 1931 but he has always been interested and active in service work. Assisted by a committee of the Lions club, he organized the air cadets in Newmarket in the spring of 1943. The squadron is still going strong under the sponsorship of the Newmarket high school and Fred still holds an honorary commission as flight lieutenant, although he is "only active for ceremonial purposes now."

As deputy district governor of Zone 18, Fred has worked hard to promote the oratorical ed for my work in this regard because Zone 18 has produced both winners in this district and I am very proud of both Mary Lou Little and Merlyn Grove," he says.

"Last week I took Mary Lou and Merlyn down to Toronto where they gave their speeches before the Runnymede club and next week I am taking them down again to speak to the Beaches club when Mayor Saunders, some of the city controllers and members of the Toronto board of education will be in the audience. It is my hope that the city of Toronto will allow oratorical contests to be taken on in the secondary schools.

"I feel that these contests provide a grand opportunity to develop quality leadership among our young people which will prove a great governing factor in the future of our country," he says.

Perhaps Freddie's interest in high school students stems from the fact that in 1922 he married Audrey Vernon, his high school sweetheart. Their son, Vernon, is employed at the Dixon Pencil Co.

Asked about his own plans for the future, Freddie said that "when my obligations to social clubs and to other social offices are fulfilled, maybe I'll find time to settle down and make a better living for myself and maybe even spend a little more time in my garden." His gardens have always been the envy of his neighbors.

GOLDEN GLOW SEES JUST WHO'S THERE

By GOLDEN GLOW

Newmarket—The April offering of the Newmarket Dramatic club was staged last week and this time it was again quite different from the others. The entire play, in three hilarious acts, took place in the living-room of the home of the young married couple, the Lyman Winchells, about whom the play centres. It was directed by Mrs. Dorothy Bowman.

I don't believe in comparisons—I think each offering of the Dramatic club should be judged solely on its own merits. And each play has proven that our Newmarket Dramatic club is versatile, as well as "tops" in entertainment. Every type of play has been selected—and every one is of a high standard and staged to perfection. We hope they carry on next year and that our good old town hall will be there too—maybe with its face lifted and a bit of spring house-cleaning attempted on the stairway.

In last week's play the stage looked delightfully neat and modern with its plain ivory walls and modern furniture, representing a living-room in the Winchell home. The young wife, taken by Mrs. R. D. Brown, and the husband by Merlyn Widdifield, were married secretly and living in the bounty of an old maiden aunt who abhorred men and marriage and who sent the monthly cheque with the understanding her nephew did not marry. The part of the aunt, Aunt Alice Bainbridge, was taken by Mrs. H. M. Coveney and she did it beautifully, even searching for her glasses and finally finding them pushed up into her hair. Those three and the part played by Eugene McCaffrey were the principals.

The delivery boy, Jimmy, taken by John Boynton, was great. The two boys, John Boynton and Bob Koffend, who played the piano before the play on Thursday evening and in between acts, gives promise of future success. Bob is a born musician and well earned the hearty applause given him. The orchestra was there on the second evening.

The young wife, Estelle (and she certainly made that character real), has no idea whatever of the value of money and the play opens with the young husband doing his best to impress it in her that she must learn not to be so extravagant. He had just had a scene with Jennie the cook, a cute, modern cook, young and efficient, dressed in out-of-doors clothes ready to leave, and she was telling the harrassed young husband a few home truths and he was holding her hand begging her to stay when Estelle, his wife, comes in—and the first misunderstanding occurs. The part of Jennie is taken by Jeanne Duncan—and later on she again appears and this time she and Aunt Alice, whom she mistakes for the new cook, have a session and a few home truths come to light and help clear up misunderstanding for Aunt Alice.

Estelle has asked a girl friend to dinner—the girl friend has asked to bring two more girls and the fiancée of one of them. The fiancée turns out to be Tommy Rotnah (Eugene McCaffrey), an old pal of the young husband and an old flame of his wife. Estelle calls him "Tommy Rot" which was a pet name she had for him in the old days.

The aunt's cheque hasn't arrived and the Winchells were in a quandary for they had no money and no credit so Estelle goes out to see what she can do towards dinner when Aunt Alice is seen through the window getting out of a taxi. She comes in as Estelle gets back. The young husband decides she must not know he is married and introduces Estelle as Tommy's wife—and another complication starts!

But when the dinner guests arrive one of the girls turns out to be Rose Stanford (Marion Rogers) and Rose was the girl the young husband had written about before he met Estelle to his aunt to ask if he could marry her. Rose naturally thinks he is still in love with her, not knowing Estelle is his wife, and she calls him Bubbles, her old pet name for him.

Of course Tommy and Estelle can't "spill the beans" so Tommy's fiancée, Grace Sterling, taken by Mrs. Fern Russell (and taken splendidly, too), goes off the deep end and tells Tommy what she thinks of him. Aunt Alice comes in behind them but withdraws before they see her, having seen them make it up very lovingly. She thinks Tommy is well named "Tommy Rot" and so gets sorry for Estelle.

Irene Andrews, Estelle's friend, played by Jean Findlay, did her part to perfection, being all at sea and thinking the whole lot of them had gone crazy. Then Aunt Alice and Rose have a scene and the plot gets thicker and thicker but since Grace, Tommy's fiancée, is enlightened, she tries to help Aunt Alice from finding out that her nephew is married—but Jennie comes in and she and Aunt Effie have a cute little bit when Jennie thinks Aunt Effie is the new cook and gives the whole thing away quite innocently and Aunt Alice sees daylight.

It was an evening of good fun and laughter! Mrs. Brown as Estelle Winchell and Mrs. Coveney as Aunt Alice, Merlyn Widdifield as Lyman Winchell and Eugene McCaffrey as Tommy certainly made our sides ache from laughing and the others played up to them beautifully. It does us all good to have a laugh—and the Dramatic club has done it right along. The audience clapped and cheered when Charles Boyd presented Mrs. Bowman with a box of lovely flowers just before the orchestra played The King. But we have still the three one-act plays to look forward to in May.

SIX FLEE $10,000 STORE FIRE

Four adults and two babies were forced out of their beds when the general store of J. T. Johnson, Gormley, was destroyed by fire April 18. Mrs. Johnson, left, shown with her granddaughter, Ivelle Sudzyko, and right, Mrs. Metro Sudzyko, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, and her three-month-old son, Gerald, all fled the fire. The fire was discovered by Mrs. Johnson who was asleep in the home adjoining the store. She aroused her son-in-law, Metro Sudzyko, who turned in the alarm. Fire destruction is estimated at $10,000. Mrs. Johnson praised neighbors "who pitched right in and helped us all they could". Firemen raced over bad roads in an effort to reach the store in time to save it. The house was saved.

Monthly Meeting, 18-10-1940.
The Friends appointed to take into consideration the nature and propriety of Friends leasing the Clergy Reserves reported as follows:— "We of the Committee having carefully attended to our appointment are all united in believing that it is inconsistent with our religious principles for any member of our Society to lease such lands as is set apart or reserved by government for the sole use and maintenance of a Protestant Clergy. Signed—David Wilson, Amos Armistage, William Shotwell, Timothy Rogers, Edward Barker, Samuel Taylor, Hugh McMullin. The above report being read is united with."

Quoting from an article in the American Friend on the Historical Value of Quaker Records is the following: "The Society of Friends apparently has always been more or less aware of the value of records. . . and we historical folk trust you will continue to do so." Quoting further: "Reading these minutes gives one a very definite impression of dignity, of a people living, as an Episcopal prayer phrases it, 'a Godly, righteous and sober life.'"

To students of history they reach far beyond the bounds of the Society and in their orderly procedure they present by their simplicity, faithful and reliable data of the changes and development of a community. This is, the oldest landmark for religious purposes north of Toronto, in its midst, and it is hoped it will be the concern of the historical people of York County to make very sure that in the years to come it will be preserved as a landmark and a monument to those faithful people who from loyalty and courage were inspired to penetrate and develop this vast primeval wilderness, and who laid the foundation of Newmarket's outstanding educational privileges.

"Tis a joy To look across the wistful memories And summon back the faces, kind and calm, Of old-time Friends, who gathered 'neath this roof In bygone days; who loved these ancient seats Of fragrant wood, and loved the sheltering trees, And tender violets among the grass, As still we love."

The North York GARDENER

By JOHN DALY
Vice President, Newmarket Horticultural Society

Last week I dealt with the compost heap and humus. It was my intention to continue that discussion this week but I think it should be postponed. The season is advancing more quickly so we must discuss more pressing problems.

The perennial border, I must confess, is my favorite form of gardening. Therefore, it seems natural that I should deal with it first. The perennial border, producing a constant supply of color and variety from April until October, or even November, depending on the season, is the most satisfactory form of gardening for lovers of flowers.

The size of the border will be determined by the size of your property plus the degree of your enthusiasm for caring for the plants. Your individual taste will decide its location, as well as whether it will be a straight edge border or one with informal curves. As long as the border is free from the roots of large trees and receives its required allotment of sunshine it can be placed around the foundation of your house or on each side of a walk. Drainage is of paramount importance and your perennial border will never be a success if the soil is not well drained.

Ideal Width
The ideal width of the straight edge border is from six to eight feet. Drive two strong stakes into the ground and stretch a line the full length of the border. Then mark the proposed edge by digging a small drill along the line.

In an earlier column suggestions were given regarding the preparation of the soil and now is the time to carry out those instructions.

The width of the curved edge border should vary from six feet at the narrow section to about ten feet at the widest parts. Mark your curves with stakes and guide your line around these to give graceful lines to your perennial border.

Evenings can be spent drawing a plan of your border to scale. The list of plants which I shall give with their heights and colors as well as their time of bloom will aid you to form a mental picture of the border you would like these plants to occupy. Mark the place on the border plan where each flower will be placed and in this way you will set some law and order to your ideas. Of course, you will decide on changes and additions from year to year but that is part of the fun of growing flowers.

Expense
The first year your border will be most unimposing unless you have a lot of money to spend this way, but even those of very limited means can have a beautiful array of flowers the second and succeeding years.

In a future column I shall tell you how to grow perennial plants from seed.

The first year can be very profitably spent in building up the soil by cultivation and by incorporating humus from your compost heap. Weekly cultivation will save you work by keeping down the weeds. A perennial border with good soil, except in prolonged dry spells, does not need watering. A good idea in a dry spell is to place cans or something similar in the border when you are watering it. Don't turn off the hose until a check shows there is at least one inch of water in the containers. Slight sprinklings only draw the roots to the surface where the hot sun burns them up and the plants weaken and die.

Next week we shall consider desirable plants and their arrangements.

NEED GUN LICENSES SPORTSMEN WARNED

Newmarket—License issuer R. C. Morrison said on Monday that a groundhog license or a license to carry a gun to shoot woodchucks, groundhogs and other vermin would be required from now until September. "The muskrat season closed April 21," he said. "Bear hunting was over on Good Friday."

"Canadians do not require a fishing license," he continued. "However, fishing licenses can now be obtained by American sportsmen. Fishing now comes under the department of lands and forests instead of the department of game and fisheries, as it used to."

"The King Anglers' and Hunters' Association is doing a big job in King," he said. "They are putting a large quantity of trout in the streams and will put trout in any public stream."

"Right now it is a closed season for pike and it is illegal to spear them as many are doing," he concluded.

GAMES WITH HILL EVEN

The Newmarket Badminton club had the Richmond Hill Badminton club up for an invitation tournament on Wednesday, April 16. President Keith Davis of the Newmarket club, reports that the games were fairly even.

DOWN THE CENTRE

By AB HULSE

FIFTEEN ONE, FIFTEEN TWO AND STUFF

Frank Cox, Aurora, who is employed with the Ordnance staff at Camp Borden, rubbed his eyes in amazement last week. An "old sweat" and an inveterate cribbage player for many years, Frank was playing a friendly game with Cpl. Riley when he was dealt the fives of hearts, diamonds and clubs, along with the jack of spades. Came the cut and he held his breath. Then he saw the five of spades show. It was one of those rarities, a 29 hand. Now he's going to show the Legion boys at Aurora just how it is done.

On the subject of cribbage, the Zone E2 championships in singles and doubles will be played at Newmarket on Wednesday, May 7. Crib players from Sutton to Woodbridge will compete, with ten men teams. Aurora, Newmarket and Woodbridge have all held successful cribbage tournaments but the Woodbridge Legionnaires take the cake. They have had as many as 60 players in action in one night and they are favored to win the team prize.

Probably no game is more popular with veterans than cribbage and many a lull between battle episodes and many a lonely vigil was broken by the little board, the pegs and the cards. The Legion Zone cribbage show will see about 60 players in action at one time with the exception of Woodbridge, the biggest night the crib players have enjoyed in North York.

COMING EVENTS DEPT.

While hockey is to all intents and purposes officially over and it will be some weeks until baseball, softball, lacrosse and other sports are underway, there are many events carded that are of interest to the fans. Aurora Lions will tonight honor Bill Mundell, Ron Simmons and Eric Smith, trophy winners from the junior hockey club, and Mac Urquhart will receive the trophy for the winning bantam club. Lack of space has washed out the annual hockey dinner.

On Monday night Sylvanus Apps, captain of the Stanley Cup winners, will be the guest speaker at the father and son banquet of Richmond Hill United church. Tickets are at a premium. The Leafs management is more than generous in sending out the players on goodwill tours and, as you can guess, Apps will be greeted with a capacity house. Two Leafs will visit Aurora high school on Tuesday morning, April 29, on a once again an enthusiastic crowd of youthful hero-worshippers will be on hand. Turk Broda was originally scheduled to come but Turk has been waived away with Canadians and Detroit players on a barnstorming tour of the west. Bill Barliko, Wally Stanowski and Gus Bodnar are all likely possibilities and the heart throbs will be terrific if any of these three are on hand.

Mac McKenzie of the Aurora board of trade and his war memorial committee think they have a jackpot program on hand for Saturday, May 3. On that date at the Aurora armory, through the courtesy of Frank Tunney and the wrestling folks, Whipper Billy Watson, kingpin of the pachyderm trust world's champion no less, will try conclusions with the "Aurora farmer", Earl McCready, ex-heavyweight champion of the British Empire and a headliner in the ring from sea to sea for over a decade. The bouts will be held in the Aurora armory and two other contests are carded with lesser luminaries, but still name grapplers, in action. Full particulars will be announced later.

DIAMOND DOINGS

What are the baseball prospects for the district? That's what quite a few are asking and so far there hasn't been much public action. Last fall it was rumored that intermediate ball would return to the district and this is still a possibility. If so, junior and intermediate clubs will likely perform in a single group with the towns deciding on what their entries will be afterwards. Newmarket, Aurora and Stouffville look like definite entries in junior at least. George Haskett, during the tailend of the hockey season, facetiously remarked that he had booked Lake Wilcox for his training camp.

Aurora Lions unpacked their new uniforms on Saturday. They'll be garbed in white with a pin stripe of black and red trim and manager Simmons swears no one will outdo them sartorially. Over at Stouffville Reg Button, former second-sacker for the Stouffville intermediate club, has agreed to handle the Lions club midget and bantam entries and "Teak" should be a valuable acquisition. He has a strong committee to work with, composed of Ted Edwards, Norm Farr, Don Lewis, Lou Murphy and Norm Farr.

Rumor persists that junior baseball or whatever is played by the older lads will not be under the jurisdiction of the Lions this year. Chances are that with memories of last season and the development of a good junior team, plus the success enjoyed by an amalgamated hockey club this winter, there will be only one strong junior club from Milliken to Stouffville. Jewitt, Moore, Clement, Campbell, Lewis, Minton and Sellars of the Square hockey team are better than average players and may well want to continue their camaraderie.

Next week sees the opening ball game at Maple Leaf stadium and if the weather is right a record crowd will be on hand for the opener. Manager Elmer Yoter appears to have corralled a sweet line-up of experienced performers and the club should go places. Try and stop me from telling you the story of the ball player who was in a batting slump and complained to his manager that he was seeing three baseballs at a time. The manager thought it over, pending a trip to the oculist, and said, "I've solved it, hit the middle one." The next day the player struck out three times. The manager indignantly boomed, "Why didn't you do what I told you to do?" "I did," sez the player, "but you forgot to tell me which bat to hit it with."

MOSTLY THIS AND THAT

Bingo Caswell, ex-goalie and coach of the Newmarket camp hockey team, now on the staff of Bloor C.I., Toronto, has been appointed athletic director of the West Toronto Ki-Y sports program at High Park. Softball, baseball, track and other sports will be under Bingo's direction. No need to mention that the job will be well done.

If there is a softball pitcher (we said a softball pitcher that is, son) who desires to make permanent connections for a good job or in the alternative desires to spend the summer at one of Ontario's garden spots (not in York county), providing he's a war veteran, we can arrange things for him. The line forms at the right and a letter or phone call may lead to some interesting connections with a topflight ball club. Lindsay town council voted $2,000 the other day to the Lindsay sports council for its summer sports program. Not a squawk from the ratepayers either. Milton town council, with an eye to the future, sold the municipally-owned arena to private interest on the undertaking that artificial ice would be installed without delay. Agreement was reached as to certain periods of skating for the public school youngsters. A headache removed from the council agenda and a big improvement for the town. Claremont residents have plans out for a new $15,000 arena and already around three grand has been subscribed. They hope to get on with the project this fall. The folks over Nobleton way are still raising money for their arena and with most of the supplies on hand, a start should be made this summer. Schomberg, which started out boldly towards a new arena, has not had much action lately but new softball park plans will be proceeded with. Glad Lloyd, Bob Moody, Cliff Graham and the rest will have intermediate, juvenile and girls' softball going in high gear this season.

Hershey Bears players, winners of the American hockey league crown, each received $150 for finishing first in their group. The next series with Cleveland netted them $14,000 for the performers and the final acrobats with Pittsburgh did likewise. The club probably came through too with something extra. Herbie Cain didn't do too badly at that, did he? But Mr. Abbott knows all about it and the Canadian government took a healthy cut from all the lads.

A hint to Newmarket Ladies' Softball club: now is the time to forward that entry to the P.W.S.U. for the right to enter the Ontario playdowns. Let's give the girls the chance their talents deserve this year. Midget B is a new series in Ontario baseball for 1947. The towns will have a chance to meet on equal basis without the fear of meeting clubs like Lizzies, Columbus Boys, Hamilton Westsides and others who have previously vanquished the best this district can produce. Intermediate C has also been added this year to further equalize matters.

Al Shill, who played hockey for Aurora R.C.O.C. in 1943, was a member of Boston Olympics who won the U.S.I.A. championship last week. Bill Stimpell, who used to play for Midland in the local intermediate O.I.A. group, was with Los Angeles Monarchs who provided the opposition. Bill Boaks reports the Highlands Golf course in great shape and a big year lined up for Pop Nisbet's popular nine-hole. The past two Sundays, although a bit muddy, have seen from six to a dozen players out pounding the pill. Mrs. Herman Gilroy, Newmarket, won the honor of being the first lady on the course. A ladies' night, scheduled for May, is being readied by the golfers to enable the femmes to get organized and as an appeaser for those ladies who are golf widows most of the summer.

ON THE ALLEYS

By ROY CHANT

Smith's Bowling Alleys

The teams in the ladies' league are putting up a great battle in the closing stretch of their schedule. The strong S.S.S. team still remains on top with 61 points, while the headlines and F.F.'s are tied for second place with 55 points. The Happy Gang is next with 52½ points, closely followed by the Dumbells with 50 and the Drops with 49½.

Last Monday night, Hazel Bowser rolled up a nifty triple of 714 (302, 206, 206). These are grand scores the girls are bowling and they are not doing any better in the C.B.A. tournament now being held in Toronto. Kitty Ruddock was next high with 644 (297, 206), followed by Phyl Osborne, 598, Jeanne Duncan, 585, Mini Giovannelli, 574, Floss Campbell, 561, Marg VanZant, 546, Hester Clark, 540, Edna McGrath, 532, and Elsie Cline, 511.

Last Thursday night, the men again defeated the ladies, this time by 300 pins. But for a few bad breaks, the girls would have made it a lot tougher. Anyway, the game provided an evening of good fun and the ladies still are sure their big night is yet to come, so better get more practice, fellows.

Don's Bowling Alleys
In the Davis Leather league last Monday evening, H. Pettit's team gained on the first-place Smith team and it looks as if next Monday night will tell which one of these two strong teams will finish on top of the league. Smith's team is leading with a 46,139 total; Pettit's team, 45,791; Peppiatt, 45,481; and Brown's, 44,384.

Oliver Gould was high triple and high single for the evening with a grand game of 704 (329, 195). Close behind was Stan Smith with a 702 (293, 257). Other good games for the evening were rolled by B. Revell, 689 (292, 205), H. Pettit, 670 (282, 236), L. Burling, 699 (228, 222), and Don Smith with 638 (262, 191).

HOLD DINNER

Aurora — Members of the men's section of the Aurora Golf club held a dinner party at Ridge Inn on Thursday night, with 53 in attendance. G. D. Y. Leacock was guest speaker and president Bill Boaks presided over the quiz contest, which had golf balls as awards.

the advice of our engineer?" Mayor Vale asked. Mrs. Edwards withdrew the motion.

Councillor Morrison moved that a town planning commission be set up to study the town and to plan a suggested five-year building program. "This commission could help the engineer considerably, and could undoubtedly make many useful suggestions concerning building. The commission would not have any actual power. Its purpose would be to work out ideas to present before council," he said. Mrs. Edwards said that the big advantage to such a commission would be its continuity, "something that the town council does not have."

"The functions that have been mentioned are not the functions of a planning commission at all," Mayor Vale said. "The functions of a planning commission are to plan residential areas, business areas and so on. They would not have any business in the discussions concerning fire halls, town halls, and other public buildings."

"In view of the appointment of the town engineer, why not wait for a few months at any rate?" Reeve Evans asked.

"I am out of sympathy with the whole scheme," Mayor Vale said.

"Other towns have ratepayers' associations and like organizations bringing suggestions," Mr. Morrison said. "We don't have them here and every suggestion must come from the individual."

"Would such a commission be any better than our present board of trade?" Mayor Vale asked. "Would the members of it have any more time than we have?"

Mr. Morrison said that the commission that he had had in mind would be composed of three councillors, three citizens and the engineer. "Why do we need an act for that sort of commission?" Reeve Evans asked. "It would simply be an enabling act, enabling it to assist the council," Mr. Luck said. "It would not supersede any function of the council."

"We already have the Toronto and York Planning Commission, which we can consult at any time," Reeve Evans said. "Why duplicate it?" The motion was withdrawn.

The council decided that both the legion hall and the drill hall should be sold as quickly as possible because of the expense of maintaining them.

"We can either sell the legion hall and give the proceeds to the legion or else make an outright gift of the building to the legion," Councillor Birrell said. "If we don't, we are going to have a lot of expense."

Councillor H. J. Luck was appointed chairman of the Relief for Britain fund for Newmarket.

Midgets Tie Marlboros In Clancy Semi-Finals

By GEO. HASKETT, JR.

Newmarket midgets are still very much in the hunt for the Toronto Hockey league King Clancy series midget championship. Tuesday evening in the semi-final series, they took on Marlboros at the Royal Rink. While they didn't bring home all the points, they did the next best thing, holding the Marlboros to a one-all draw.

To get in a recap of the game, the canaltown forces hopped into the lead smack off the starting whistle when Don Gibson fired the rubber behind Lockhart in the Marlboros net in the first minute of play. The initial period ended with the Legionnaires holding onto their one-goal margin.

Don Buck, husky defense stalwart for the Marlboro sextet, equalized the count midway through the second session when his drive from the blueline found the top corner of the net. The teams battled away until the final bell without either being able to break the deadlock.

Bob Winch played a whale of a game in the Newmarket citadel, making some great saves to rob the Marlboro snipers. Red Wilkins, Sid Beattie and Grant Firth took care of the blueline traffic in fine fashion. Fred Hall iced two forward lines, both giving Lockhart some anxious moments.

The replay of the contest is up for decision on Thursday night at Ravina Gardens. A victory for the locals will move them in to the finals against Bell A.C. The Bell-boys having defeated Driscoll's in the semi-finals Tuesday evening by a 6-2 count.

Newmarket: goal, Bob Winch; def., Red Wilkins, G. Firth; wings, D. Gibson, D. Duncan; centre, L. Thoms; alternates, D. Bunn, J. Leroyd, D. Couch, Sid Beattie, Ab Smith; alt. goalie, J. Andrews.
